

planting roots in the community

The Beth Greenhouse, located at Newark Beth Israel Medical Center (NBIMC) and Children's Hospital of New Jersey (CHoNJ), provides access to fresh, nutritious, affordable produce to residents of the South Ward and surrounding communities.

The produce grown in the Greenhouse fuels our seasonal, weekly Farmers Market, food pantry programs and community partner organizations. The greenhouse offers the ultimate farm to fork experience through year-round field trips, which offers sustainable food systems education for groups of all ages including schools, scouts, seniors and more.

The Beth Greenhouse Farmer's Market, accepts SNAP, WIC and SFMNP. Additionally the market participates in City Green's Good Food Bucks program allowing nutrition benefit program recipients to double their fresh food purchasing power. The produce also provides NBIMC's Women's Wellness Pantry, with a year round supply of nutrient rich foods

The Greenhouse supports health and wellness activities at the Reverend Dr. Ronald B. Christian Community Health and Wellness Center, and serves as an intergenerational "neighborhood hub and learning lab" where a diverse community can participate in gardening activities, exchange recipes, obtain plant starts for their home gardens and learn about the importance of good nutrition.

The Beth Greenhouse is located at the corner of Osborne Terrace and Lehigh Avenue, Newark NJ
For questions, contact Molly Fallon at 973-926-7371 or Molly.Fallon@rwjbh.org or Barbara Mintz, Barbara.Mintz@rwjbh.org

The Beth greenhouse
planting roots in the community

Newark Beth Israel Medical Center | RWJ Barnabas HEALTH